10. One of the speakers in the video stated that reading began right along with learning to talk. It was also stated that the link between oral language and reading is very clear. Explain this concept as if you were explaining this to a friend that was hearing it for the very first time.

11. The video talked about research revealing that children who have developed specific skills are the ones more likely to learn to read easily and well. Write about these skills that children needed to develop to learn to read and how you can help children develop these skills.

12. What is the natural and enjoyable way for children to become good talkers and listeners?

13. The video mentioned that often times teachers have the opportunity to read or hear about research that explains that children will learn valuable academic skills from play. She goes on to explain that many parents don't come across information such as this and therefore may not value it as an academic tool. What are some things that you can do to help the parents of the children that you care for understand the value of play?
